Dear Mr. Hilton

Enclosed is the material you requested. Please note, the Starks history package is from a Luella Fraser in Painter Post New York. She is the person who sent the material to me. In her letter she mentions she may have more material. I not to sure if she is even alive at this point in time though. It has been almost six years.

I will try to get up to Starks this summer for your 200th Celebration. I would like to have my dad come if at all possible. I was wondering if you could recommend a hotel in the area that we could spend the night.

I have left out the 10th, 11th and 12th generation. Some of my relatives felt it was an invasion of their privacy to include them.

Point of interest, my Gr. Gr. Grandmother was the sister to Sarah Mower who was a popular poet in the mid eighteen hundreds. She wrote such poems as the Snow Drop. There is also a little history from a poets perspective in her book. Several libraries have a copy in your area. She lived in Jay Maine.

Keep in touch.

Regards

David R. Day

Skillings Family

We may not have wealth and power
And be all unknown to fame
But we can be truly proud
Of our Prussian Skillings name.
