

NUMBER 33

o the entertainment. airly crowded, and yet needed to keep the the gates. To end up and chorus formed a ed by the reception all marched to the policemen-managed to tisle leading up to the seeing us all aboard, posed the usual fare- which we responded yells, and the program ended.

ne of the many dally ng only in place and tails. In Stavanger tioned in order) two us away out on the a band on board, the le chorus. At that ion had for its object mous Bjilland & Co.'s vere served to a lunch- , and after observing anllness everywhere, l salmon disappeared notice.

were taken through st canal and up a lake oss, a very beautiful people had come o get a glimpse of our nd to hear us play a

At Bergen we were home of Norway's inister of State Mi-me lies outside of the of a fine fjord. Nu- r the park afford fine pass by the royal en-splendid dinner to say e man. In build and rong, as becomes his n manner he is plain

In short, he does not part of a monarchical ather that of a plain is the man who says

A HAPPY MEETING.

Hitchcock Brothers Reunited After a Separation of Forty-One Years.

Having a brother, whom he had not seen for forty-one years, drop in on him the first of this week without any warning, was the experience of L. M. Hitchcock. Mr. Hitchcock, who is 82 years of age, left home forty-one years ago and came to this county, and although corresponding with his brother, he was not informed of his visit this week. His surprise can be imagined when a gray-haired man, wearing the honored blue of the G. A. R., came to his home Monday and announced himself as Albert L. Hitchcock. The visitor had no difficulty in recognizing his brother, but Mr. Hitchcock could not see much resemblance in the gray-haired veteran to the young man he left at home in Pennsylvania two score of years ago.

Albert Hitchcock now lives at Lacyville, Pa., and this is his first visit in the west. Indeed, it is the first time he was ever west of Buffalo, N. Y., and he is enjoying his visit in Minnesota with his brother as best can be imagined. He thinks Minnesota is a great State and is in love with our climate. He is a member of the Le Raysville, Pa., G. A. R. post and came west with other members of his company to attend the national encampment.

After a visit in Northfield with his brother, he will go to Kansas to visit with other relatives.

WERE EXTINGUISHED.

Al Raineri's Fire Department Baseball Team Badly Warped Wednesday.

It was the intention of the Northfield fire department baseball team to defeat the Faribault team last Wednesday in the game of baseball, but the